| Activity DescriptionIngenium Term 3 is a recurring term-by-term event of the School of Engineering at Asia Pacific College that serves as a platform for students to showcase their innovative projects and technical competencies. Each term, the event highlights a diverse range of student outputs, demonstrating their ability to transform ideas into practical and impactful engineering solutions. This activity aims to celebrate creativity, encourage collaboration, and provide a venue for students to present their work to peers, faculty, and industry guests. It also allows participants to strengthen their communication skills, receive constructive feedback, and gain valuable experience in presenting and defending their projects. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                   |                                                                             |                                 |
